The meeting was closed, but Carter was bent on preaching, and fought so hard against being silenced that a general melee was the result, a party of roughs taking advantage of the chance for diversion. A child was wunded by a pistol shot.

Price and ex-senator w. H. Moore, made short speeches.

The meeting was very enthusiastic, taking everything into consideration we are able to say the meeting was an entire success.

Chiminal Court.—The question we understand is going to be brought — Mr. Seward, the American Minister to China, is being hotly assailed by the Pacific coast press for his assertion "that more Chinamen have left California than have come into it in the past two years." It is said that the excess of Chinese immigration over the number that returned to China was 8,000 to 10,000 in that period. The total Chinese population of California to-day is estimated at about 100,000, to 750,000 whites. The Chinese are nearly all men, but of the whites the adult makes probably number less than 200,000, making at least one Chinaman to every two white men.

the publication of this very important document, but we shall publish it next week nearly in full.

The annual message of the President of the United States which we print b low in full speaks for itself. Taken all in all it is one of the most sensible and reasonable ever submitted to Congress by any President, and it is gratifying to see that it is so treated by all men of both parties. There is, it is true, men of both parties. There is, it is true, part, were more generally notleipated than the record of the election discovered of some southern and a few norths. ern Democratic newspapers in regard to what the President says of the southern violators of law, and his determination to punish offenders. But all sensible men, even in this part of the country, men, even in this part of the country, and in some particular Congressional districts outside of those states, the renot do for the south to arrayitself against the execution of the law in the courts. the exenution of the law in the courts. They complained of the bayonet, but they cannot complain that the law should be executed through the courts.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE Fellow Citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives:

Our heartfelt gratitude is due to the Divine Being, who holds in his hands the destinies of nations, for the continued bestowal, during the last year, of countless blessings upon our country.

We are at peace with all other nations. Our public credit has greatly improved, and is, perhaps, now stronger than ever before. Abundant harvests have rewarded those who till the soil, our manufacturing industries are reyiving, and it is believed that general prosperity, which has been so long anxi-ously looked for, is at last within our

The eujoyment of health by our people generally has, however, been interrupta ed during the past season by the pre-valence of a fatal pestilence, the yellow fever, in some portions of the southern states, creating an emergency which called for prompt and extraordinary measures of relief. The disease appeared as an epidemic at New Orleans and at other places on the lower Mississippi, soon after midsummer. It was rapidly spread by fugitives from the infected cities and towns, and did not disappear until early in November. The state of Louisiana, Mistissippi and Tennessee have suffered severely. About one hundred thousand cases are believed to have occurred, of which about twenty thousand, according to intelligent esti-mates, proved fatal. It is impossible to estimate with any approach to accuracy the loss to the country occasioned by this epidemic. It is to be reckoned by the hundred millions of dollars. The suffering and destitution that resulted excited the deepest sympathy in all parts of the union. Physicians and nurses hastened from every quarter to the assistance of the afflicted communiand supplies, in every needed form, were speedily and generously furnished. The government was able to respond in some measure to the call for help by providing tents, medicines and food for he sick and destittue, the requisite directions for the purpose being given, in the confident expectation that this action of the Executive would receive the sanction of Congress. About eighteen hundred tents and rations of the value of about twenty-five thousand dollars were sent to cities and towns which applied for them, full details of which will be furnished to Congress by the proper Department.

The fearful spread of this pestilence has awakened a very general public sentiment in favor of an ational sanitary administration, which shall not only control quarantine, but have the sanitary supervision of interal commerce in times of epidemics, and hold an advisory relation to the state and municipal health authorities, with power to deal health authorities, with power to deal with whatever endangers the public health, and which the municipal and state authorities are unable to regulate. The national quarantine act approved April 29, 1878, which was passed too late in the last session of Congress to provide the means forcarrying it into oberraion during the past season is a step in the direction here indicated. In view of the necessity for the most effective measures, by quaranters. the most effective measures, by quarantine and otherwise, for the protection of our seaports, and the country gen-erally, from this and other epidemics,ft is recommened that Congress give to the whole subject early and careful consid-

The permanent pacification of the country by the complete protection of all citizens in every civil and political all citizens in every civil and political right continues to be of paramount interest with the great body of our people. Every step in this direction is welcomed with public approval, and every interruption of steady and uniform progress to the desired consummation awakens general uneasiness and widespread condemnation. The recent Congressional elections have furnished a direct and trustworthy test of the advance thus far made in the practical establishment of the right of suffrage, secured by the Constitution to the liberated race in the southern states. All disturbing influences, real or imaginary, had been removed from all of these states.

of the act of February 23, 1878, three commissioners were appointed to an international conference on the subject of adopting a common ratio between gold and silver, for the purpose tween gold and silver, for the purpose of catallishing, internationally, the use privileges. By these constitutional Union obtained a large increase of political power in Congress and the Elec-toral College, and the country justly expected that elections would proceed, as to the enfranchised race, upon the same circomstances of legal and constiutional freedom and protection which the colored people have been unable to make their opinions felt in the elec-tions, the result is mainly due to influences not easily measured or remedied by legal protection, but in the states of Louisiana and South Carolina at large, colored voters have been overridden, and their participation in the election not permitted to be general or free.

It will be to the Congress for which these elections were held, to make such examinations into their conduct as may be engaging to de-make such examinations into their conduct as may be appropriate to determine the validity of the claims of members to their seats. In the meanwhile it becomes the duty of the Executive and Judicial departments of the government, each in its province, to inquire into and punish violations of the laws of the United States which to forego a renewed appeal to the legislatures, the courts, the executive au-thorities, and the people of the states where these wrongs have been per-petrated, to give their assistance towards bringing to justice the offenders and preventing a repetition of the crimes. No means within my power will be spared to obtain a full and fair investigation of the alleged crimes, and to secure the conviction just punishment of the guilty.

It may be observed that the principal apppropriation made for the De-partment of Justice at the last session contained the following clause: "And ed May 30th, 1870, entitled An act to its deliberations. The conference held its meetings in Paris, in August hat. The report of the commissioners, herewith submitted, will show its results. No common ratio between gold and silver could be agreed upon by the conference. The general conclusion was reached that it is necessary to maintain in the world the monetary functions of silver as well as of gold leaving the selection of the use of one or the other of these two metals, or both, to be made by each state.
